Drawing the Blueprint for a Sustainable Natural Gas Future

Wednesday, January 18, 2012
Denver Museum of Nature & Science
Denver, Colorado

A stakeholder-led forum discussing the key topics affecting natural gas as a safe and sustainable energy resource. Participants learned about the current research and related resources at Colorado's three research universities and participated in designing future research needs.

A special thanks to Noble Energy, The Museum of Nature & Science, Beatty & Wozniak PC, and the Alliance for Sustainable Colorado.
Their generous support made this event possible.
