

University of Colorado Law School

Colorado Law Scholarly Commons

Schultz Lectureship Series: Energy Innovation

Lectures

10-29-2007

Split Estates: A New Equilibrium Between Surface and Mineral Owners

Bruce Kramer

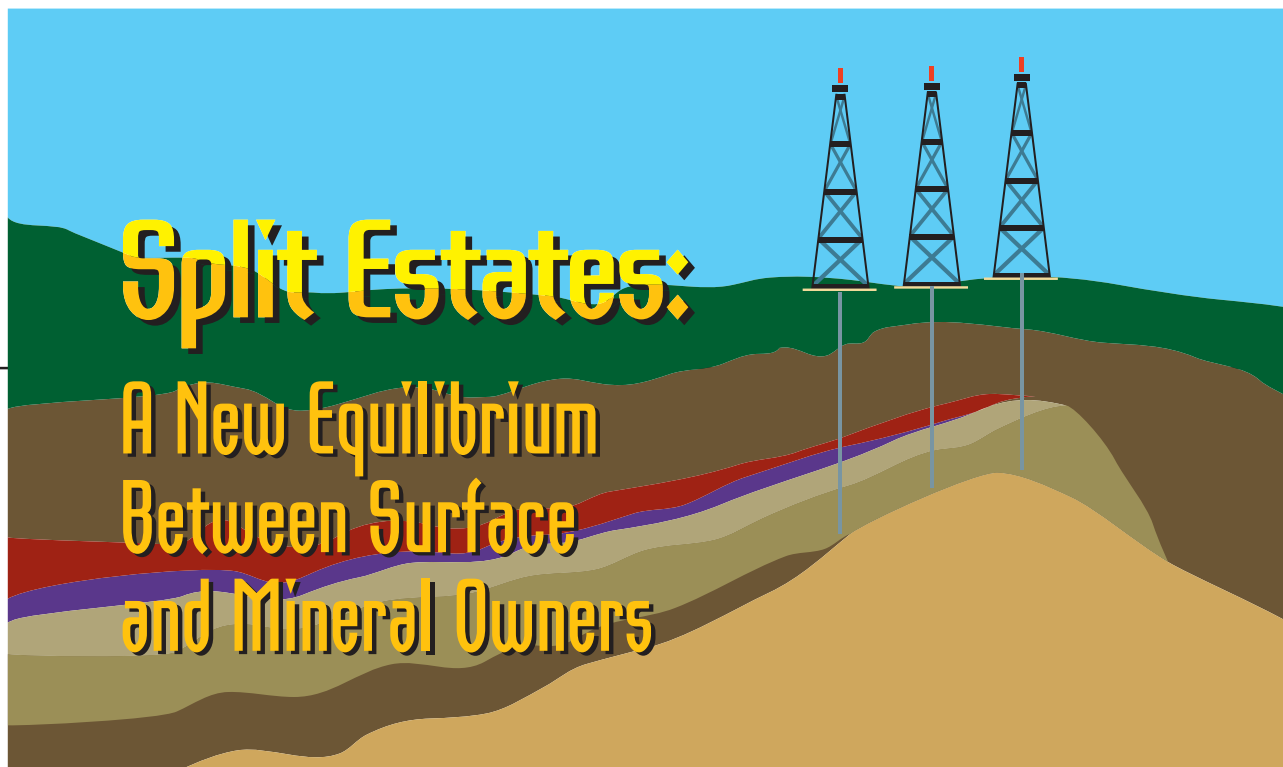

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholar.law.colorado.edu/schultz_lectureship_series

Part of the Energy and Utilities Law Commons, Energy Policy Commons, Natural Resources Law Commons, Oil, Gas, and Energy Commons, and the Oil, Gas, and Mineral Law Commons

Citation Information

Bruce Kramer, Split Estates: A New Equilibrium Between Surface and Mineral Owners, University of Colorado Law School (Inaugural Schultz Lecture, Oct. 29, 2007), http://scholar.law.colorado.edu/schultz_lectureship_series/6/.

Announcing the
SCHULTZ LECTURESHIP Series
 on oil and gas, energy, and natural resources

Inaugural Speaker:
BRUCE KRAMER

“Split Estates: A New Equilibrium Between Surface and Mineral Owners”

BRUCE KRAMER is Maddox Professor of Law at Texas Tech University School of Law and of counsel with McGinnis, Lochridge & Kilgore in Austin and Houston, Texas. He is the co-author of a four-volume treatise entitled The Law of Pooling and Unitization and a casebook entitled Cases and Materials on Oil and Gas Law. He served as a member of the Council of the Oil, Gas and Mineral Law Section of the State Bar of Texas. He is currently a trustee of the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation and the Energy and Mineral Law Foundation and chair of the Advisory Board of the Institute of Local Government of the Center of American and International Law. Professor Kramer has published over 25 Law Review articles and has contributed chapters to several legal treatises.

When: October 29, 2007 at 4 p.m.

Location: University of Colorado
 Boulder Law School

Wolf Law Building — located on the southernmost edge of the CU campus, at the northeast corner of Baseline and Broadway Roads. Parking available at Lots 308 and 470 on Kittredge Loop Drive (accessed from Regent Drive from Broadway).

Wittemyer Courtroom

1.5 CLE credits available for attorneys

The Schultz Lectureship Fund was established to provide support for one or more nationally recognized accomplished scholars in the fields of oil and gas, energy, or natural resources law to present an annual lecture at the Law School. The lectures are intended to provide valuable information to policy-makers, practitioners, business executives, and the academic community on emerging issues in the field. The events will promote informed discourse about interrelated legal, social, business, economic, and public policy issues surrounding oil and gas, energy and natural resources, allowing for the diversity of perspectives now represented at the Law School and in the legal academy.

This lectureship fund was made possible by the generosity of John H. and Cynthia H. Schultz